

First Time Setup for Windows XP and Windows Vista Users

- Run the setup.exe installer to set up the device driver on your machine. To do this, go to: www.fortunecompass.com/updates/setup.exe and choose 'run' from the dialog box.

Important! A pop-up window may appear as a 'Security Warning', asking you to confirm that you do want to download the setup.exe file to your computer. Be sure you choose "Run".

- When that process is complete, the "Fortune Compass InstallShield Wizard" window should appear. Select "Next" to install the driver onto your system.
- When the installation process has completed the InstallShield, click "Finish". The InstallShield Wizard window will close.
- Plug your USB cable into your Fortune Compass and your computer, and power on your Fortune Compass.

Your Windows system should now recognize that it has "Found New Hardware" (a balloon pop-up like this may appear).

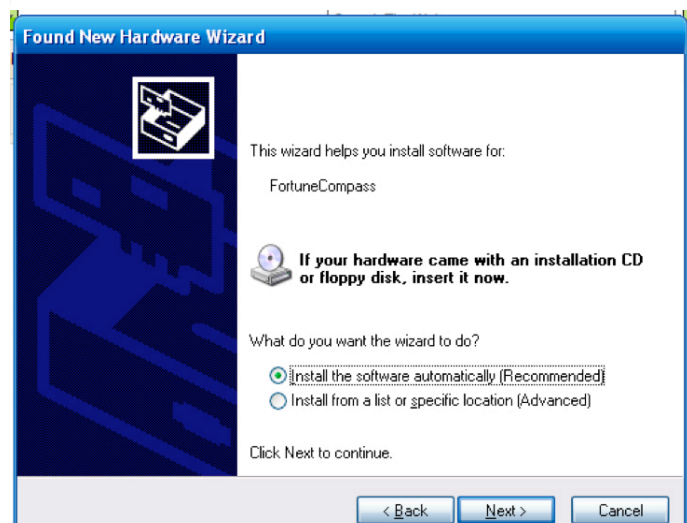

- Wait - after several (10 – 30 seconds) the “Found New Hardware Wizard” window should appear.

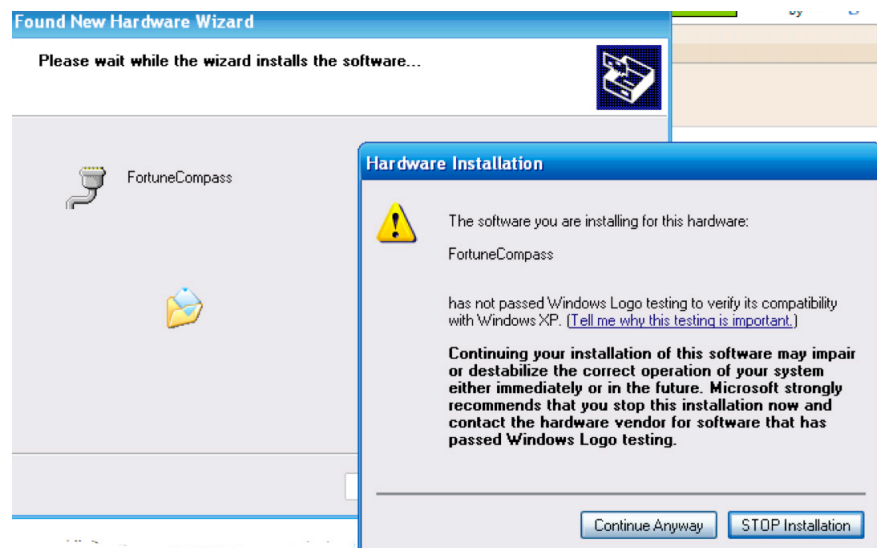

(Different Systems may have a different sequence of windows). When you see this window and it offers to connect to ‘Windows Update’, select “No, not this time”, and click “Next”.

- The “Found New Hardware Wizard” screen will now install driver software for the “Fortune Compass”. When this screen appears, select the ‘Install the software automatically (Recommended)’ option, and click “Next”. (This step may take several minutes so be patient...)

- Important! Once the installation process begins, you may get a final pop-up window asking you to confirm it is okay to install the software, be sure to click “Continue Anyway”.

- When the ‘Found New Hardware Wizard’ has finished it will ask you to click “Finish” to close the Wizard. Do this and the window will close.
- Power off the Fortune Compass, but leave the USB plugged in.

Testing the driver installation

- Power on the Fortune Compass. You should hear the “device plugged in” sound.
  - Note: if you see a message “this device can perform faster” simply ignore it, this is normal with many brands of computers.

Congratulations, your Fortune Compass USB driver is now working properly!

- Go to www.fortunecompass.com/updates, and follow the on-screen instructions. (On subsequent updates you can go directly to this step)
